SERVICE ON RALLY DAY

Communion Services at Tohickor Church Largely Attended

Weisel, Oct. 8.—Tohickor church was beautifully decorated for the Rally Day services Sunday, when Rev. S. E. Moyer administered communion to 388 communicants. Besides a large percentage of the congregation being present, there were many visitors, including some from the first charge of the pastor in Schuylkill Haven, others from Maryland, Allentown and Bethlehem.

Despite the fact that many of the smaller children have been out of Sunday school due to the fear of influenza, the goal of 250 was almost reached when the record of attendance was made at 232.

The members of the Lutheran choir and families left here at 10 a. m. Saturday for a day's picnic at Paradise Falls, in the Poconos. They returned about 6 o'clock that evening, having made the beautiful trip of about 150 miles, by way of Stroudsburg and returning through the Water Gap section. They report magnificent scenery, touched by the brilliance of Nature's coloring.

SILK FIRM IN PERKASIE TO ENLARGE ITS PLANT

Orders Will Keep Employees Busy Throughout the Year

WAGES ARE INCREASED

Extensive Improvements Have Been Made to the Interior of Plant—Proposed to Erect Two-Story Brick and Concrete Addition

Perkasie, Oct. 8.—An extensive addition to its present plant is planned by the Perkasio Silk Company, which operates the silk throwing mill on Ninth street, here.

The company, one of the busiest in the community at the present time, has 149 persons on the pay roll, and holds contracts which officials say will keep the entire force busy throughout the year.

The addition will take the form of a two-story brick and concrete annex to the present plant, measuring 50 by 60 feet on the ground plan. It is to be built between the present building and the sidewalk, and will extend the entire length of the present plant.

This plan of enlargement leaves the company with the entire northern half of its lot for a projected knitting mill, which is part of the company's plan for future expansion.

Since the new owners took possession of the mill a little more than a year ago, extensive alterations and improvements have been made a number of times, including the installation of new machinery valued at thousands of dollars.

An additional generator was added to the electrical plant in the mill, but this did not provide sufficient current for its growing needs, and the firm now purchases current for some of its equipment from the Perkasio municipal plant. Electrically operated humidifiers which automatically control the temperature and humidity of the air in the plant have been installed, and electricians are now revamping the entire lighting system.

After a brief period of disagreement the wages of the men working on the night shift was boosted slightly. A conference was held between the men and the management, and the night rate was increased from twenty-five to twenty-seven cents an hour, and the day rate from twenty-five to twenty-six cents.

RICHBORO HIGH SCHOOL SPONSORS MANY SPORTS

At Least Twenty Candidates Out For the Soccer Team

TENNIS VERY POPULAR

Supervising Principal Willard C. Miller Announces He Will Hold Conferences with Parents—Requirements This Year Will Be Higher

Richboro, Oct. 8.—With more than twenty candidates vying for positions on the soccer squad of the high school and "practice" under way, a busy season is looked forward to by the coach, Raymond O. Gilbert, and all of the local sport enthusiasts.

The first game this fall was played on the home field with Abington High School's second team this week. A game scheduled with a George School team was postponed.

A complete schedule for the season will be announced to the student body next Monday. Three able players, Stewart Worthington, Russell Rook and Horace Luff, who were graduated in last June's class, will be missed from this year's line-up.

Tennis among both boys and girls continues to be as popular a diversion as it was last Spring when the courts were first laid out on the playground at the rear of the high school building by a group of pupils interested in the sport.

In order to foster more friendly relations and understanding between the school, teachers, children and parents, Willard C. Miller, supervising principal of the local school system, will spend Monday evenings from 7 o'clock until 9 at his office in the elementary building. Mr. Miller asks the children to last week to invite their parents to meet him on those occasions to discuss school problems and to make suggestions and criticisms. "Parents who will take this opportunity to consult me will find it to be mutually beneficial and will not be apt to indulge in hasty criticism, which I find is caused mostly by misinformation," Mr. Miller said.

It was explained to the pupils last week by faculty members that marking this term will be more strict than it had ever been in accordance with a changed system of credits approved by the Penna. Department of Education. The school uses the A, B, C, D and E methods of credits. In the future, a student must have a rating in each subject above D in order to be recommended by the school to any higher institution, particularly college. The mark of D will be sufficient for a graduating credit, but not a satisfactory one for college entrance requirements, all children were told.

Approval of the shift of certain grades to classrooms which had not been used by them before, effective with the opening of school, was made by Charles H. Boehm, Morrisville, assistant superintendent of Bucks county schools, who last week inspected the local institution.

Perkasie Man Pleads Guilty

Samuel Byrd, thirty-five, Perkasie, pleaded guilty to transportation and possession of liquor Friday in Montgomery County Court, at Norristown. He was arrested by Chief of Police Samuel Wolfindin, Lansdale, last week.

Doylestown High Hockey Team Tied Lansdale, 1-1

AFTER A FINE two-period struggle on the hockey field at Memorial Park, Lansdale, on Friday afternoon, Doylestown High girls' team held the Lansdale High lassies to a 1-1 tie. It was Doylestown's third game of the season, the two previous tilts having been won by Doylestown.

Doylestown started the first half with a number of reserves in the lineup owing to a later arrival of the first-string players, but the reserves held the Lansdale competition in no uncertain manner.

During the first half, not a single goal was scored by either team. Lansdale passed the ball over the goal line twice but because of fouls, neither goal counted.

Doylestown's left inner, Eleanor Shellenberger, registered a pretty goal during the second half, and a short time later G. Darrah, the Lansdale center forward, followed up with the goal that deadlocked the count. Doylestown passed the ball across the goal just before the game ended but a detected foul prevented the "Sealers" from taking home the spoils.

The lineup:
Doylestown High
Ross right wing
Englest Shellenberger center forward
Drunner Lightcap right halfback
Rittenhouse Smith center halfback
